Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Aguinaldo, once the hero of the Philippine insurrection, is now candidate for president of the Philippine Republic, when and if. It calls to mind those old days when General Funston chased Aguinaldo around and round the islands, until the doughy Filipino finally called in his secretary and asked for an English-Spanish dictionary. He searched the book feverishly and his secretary at last asked what word he was looking for. Aguinaldo replied he wanted the English for "bastonte". The bright secretary quickly spelled the word in English. He spelled it—"nuff."

Democrats or Republicans, New Deal or Old Deal, we have a strong hunch that Philippine independence will wait much longer than the term Congress resolved upon. The reasons will be found in various reactions of the Filipino people, partly in having their tariffs upped by Uncle Sam when he cuts the leading strings, but mainly the fear of the islanders of Japan. The United States War College also may call for delay if Japanese continue their policy of elbowing this country out of the Asiatic trade. The United States may, or may not, come to grips with Japan on the matter of the Pacific trade. But in any event its position in the Orient is bound to be weakened by the relinquishment of the Phillippines. The Filipinos themselves are intelligent enough to know that they would be the first to suffer from such relinquishment. What the island politicians are counting on is that Uncle Sam will come to their rescue, in event of Japanese attempt to circumscribe their newly begotten independence. The question in the minds of many sound thinkers is whether it would not be best to maintain some sort of sovereignty over the islands and prevent such condition from arising.

While the diplomatic gestures made by Secretary of State Hull in notifying foreign powers that their annual installment under their contract to repay this country some eleven billions loaned during and after the war, hardly create a ripple of interest among the welching nations, they do serve a very useful purpose. The people of the United States are thereby reminded again of the futility of war. They gave 75,000 men to be sacrificed, burdened themselves with billions of debt, a burden that this country will carry for at least a century, all to make the "world safe for democracy."

Contrary to the high purpose of the great dreamer who gave the world that shibboleth, the war made the world extremely unsafe for democracy, and left this country of ours in a position where it must choose either to enter an alliance with English speaking people of the earth to maintain an enforced world peace, or must so strengthen its arms and enlarge its natural resources and wealth to a degree, that will insure in the storms to come, a position of "splendid isolation" and unswerving neutrality. At the moment it looks as if the latter would be the course followed.

The depression has fostered a spirit of rampant nationalism the world over. In some countries this spirit savors of the fanatic and fantastic. No viewpoint of the "other fellow" across the water or across the border can penetrate hard headed realists who sway and guide public sentiment. Sympathy and understanding, one nation with another, has vanished. As Chester Rowell remarks in the San Francisco Chronicle. "In a mad house only the sane person is abnormal." In a mad world, if the United States can maintain, as many doubt, a position of self-sustaining isolation and neutrality, we may yet live through storms that are coming.

CIVIC CLUB TO GIVE BENEFIT PARTY JUNE 21

On Friday evening, June 21, the Nevada City Woman's Civic Club will sponsor one of the largest card parties ever given in this city. The affair will take place in Armory Hall which has been most generously donated by the Nevada City firemen for the occassion.

It was decided at Monday's meeting of the club to give the party and a committee of arrangements was appointed by the president, Mrs. George Gildersleeve, as follows:

Mrs. C. E. Parsons, chairman who will act as official hostess assisted by Mrs. George Gildersleeve, president, Mrs. A. W. Hoge, Mrs. Robert Nye, Mrs. B. C. Goldsmith, Mrs. William Holland, Mrs. H. J. Wright, Mrs. George Calanan, Mrs. W. C. Austin, Mrs. Leland Smith, Mrs. Emma Foley, Mrs. H. S. Foreman, Mrs. Edward Rose ,Miss Brand and Miss Mulloy.

Mrs. Edward Rose has donated a door prize, other members have also contributed and more prizes are needed. Club members, merchants and friends are invited to donate prizes.

The objective of the party is to raise funds to buy a "vacuum cleaner" for the swim pool.

"Youth" has been the theme of much of the work and interest of the club. They have a firm belief and realization that the welfare of the nation as well as the happiness of the individual is dependent upon healthful and happy living in youth.

Good healthy recreational facilities are necessary to growth. A supervised swimming pool provides opportunities for the finest of exercise and recreation.

The city has provided the fine pool in the beautiful municipal park, admission is free and children daily trek to the park from all parts of the city for a swim. One has to watch them but for only a little while to know that they are happy and contented.

There has been "a fly in the ointment" in the form of murky water. The city fathers have been pondering the matter. An expert has informed that the sediment accumulating in the tank can be taken out with a "vacuum cleaner," at least that is the non-technical term for the apparatus which is used to suck up the water and sediment from the bottom of the tank.

It is claimed that with such an instrument in use the water will be kept clear and clean. The park commission and the "city fathers" are most anxious to acquire this apparatus at once so that the pool will be enjoyed fully all through the summer.

But—there is now no money available for the purchase of the necessary apparatus.

Through the park commission the Nevada City Woman's Civic Club learned of this need and lost no time in offering their assistance in the matter. At Monday's business meeting the matter was brought before the club and it was straightway decided to put the club's shoulder to the wheel and raise the money. A community card party was decided upon as the best means as it was felt that this is a whole community project and that there are a great many who would be glad to help in any way that they can. The admission to the party will be fifty cents per person. It is expected that every club member will take a table and invite guests. Others wishing to engage tables kindly inform one of the committee.

Whist, auction and mah jongg will be arranged. Prizes will be awarded for high scores in each game.

SACRAMENTO ST. AND PARK AVE. IN RIVALRY

A woman residing on Park avenue Wednesday morning set off a small bon fire alongside of her house. On the fire she piled some old tires. A huge column of smoke rolled up. An excitable woman neighbor rushed over and inquired "Have you a bon fire." The woman tending her fire was of foreign extraction and speaks imperfect English. She replied: "Yes, yes, I haf a barn fire." The neighbor rushed to the phone and called the fire department. After it was all explained Fire Chief Ott and the firemen had a good laugh.

Sacramento street not to be outdone by Park avenue staged a woman's fist fight in the afternoon. Just as the inter-city bus came down the hill two women rushed out of a dwelling into the middle of the street and fell to pummeling each other. The bus halted and driver and passengers had ringside seats. Witnesses report the battle was short and spectacular with no hair-pulling, but plenty of wild hay-makers.

NEVADA CITY WOMAN EXHIBITS PAINTINGS

Word has been received in Nevada City that Mrs. Sophie Nickerson of Sacramento, a native of Nevada City who resided here many years, has entered forty of her paintings in the San Diego fair. Many of these are scenes of William Land, McKinley and South Side parks, and various scenes about Sacramento. She also won quite a name for herself on her large entry of California paintings at the Chicago Century of Progress fair.

For years Mrs. Nickerson has painted scenes for the California State Fair exhibits. She is a cousin of Mrs. William Treglown of this city.

HYDRAULICKING HIGHWAY CHEAP

The California Highway Commission according to Walter B. Little, engineer, moved 2,481,000 cubic yards of hetrogenous debris by hydraulicking in road building on Oregon Mountain at a cost of 2.26 cents per cubic yard with an average movement of 1419 cubic yards per hour. This cost was below any figure possible for other methods of removal unde the conditions encountered.—From The Mining and Contractors Review.

San Juan Woman Tried for Whipping Another

The North San Juan justice court yesterday was packed and jammed by eager and breathless spectators. Judge Walter Mobley of Nevada City presided at the trial of Robert Cassidy and Maggie Lohman, defendants charged with assault and battery upon Mrs. George Uhrig. At the conclusion of the trial Judge Mobley announced that he would take the case under advisement.

Mrs. Uhrig, complaining witness, testified that while driving on the road back of the San Juan postoffice on May 9, at 5:30 o'clock she was stopped by Maggie Lohman and Robert Cassidy. She said that Cassidy scored her for not admitting Miss Lohman to a meeting of the San Juan Ridge Improvement League the night before, and that Miss Lohman demanded an apology. Mrs. Uhrig stated the reason Miss Lohman had not been admitted was because she had not paid any dues into the league. While this debate went forward, according to Mrs. Uhrig, Cassidy held her wheel so that she could not proceed, and she finally left the car. It was then, she stated that Cassidy pinioned her arms while Maggie Lohman beat her with a stick.

Mrs. A. Robinson, Joe Lee and Ray Taylor, stated that they had heard Miss Lohman threaten to force Mrs. Uhrig to apologize for keeping her out of the league meeting. This testimony was intended to show premeditation. Mrs. Robinson also testified to seeing the bruises on Mrs. Uhrig's body where Miss Lohman had struck her with a stick.

Mrs. Florence Aldridge and her daughter Miss Mildred Aldridge were eye witnesses of the fracas from the back porch near the road where the beating took place. They substantially corroborated Mrs. Uhrig's testimony.

The defendants themselves admitted that Miss Lohman had wielded a stick upon Mrs. Uhrig, but Cassidy denied that he had held her while the beating took place, but did say he had prevented her from throwing rocks at Miss Lohman.

The defendants brought into court and submitted as exhibits in the case what they declared was the very stick Miss Lohman had used for punishment, and the very rock, which they alleged Mrs. Uhrig had tried to throw at Miss Lohman. The stick was about two feet long and a little moe than a half inch thick.

Miss Lohman declared on the witness stand that if she could have found a larger stick, Mrs. Uhrig would not have been able to appear yesterday in court.

Attorneys Jones and Finnegan represented the defendants and District Attorney Vernon Stoll conducted the prosecution. The little court room was packed and jammed with spectators.

It is said that this is the first case tried in North San Juan in the past forty years.

CCC CAMPS ARE ESTABLISHED, ROADS BUILDING

R. L. P. Bigelow, National Forest Supervisor, yesterday stated that two CCC camps have been established at White Cloud on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway and at Forbes on the Iowa Hill division in Placer county. A third will be established at Bradley near Forest Hill, also in Placer county, as soon as enrollees arrive.

One road is being built to Crystal Peak south of the old Dog Valley road, and a second to the State Line lookout near Brockway on the north short of Tahoe.

CITY ASPHALT HEATER TRIED OUT LAST WEEK

The modern asphalt heater purchased by the city recently, was put into use last week and many street repairs were made on Aristocracy Hill. The heater holds sixty gallons of asphalt oil heated by an oil blast which heats in 35 to 50 minutes.

Street Superintendent H. H. Hallett has also had men employed in repairing the city's rock crushing plant at the Hoge mine dump. Bob Hathaway is supervising the reconditioning and when completed Nevada City will have a complete rock crushing plant. It consists of the crusher, screen, elevator bins, bin for loading, and is operated by electricity.

As it is hot weather now the officials of Nevada City are preparing to make many repairs on the streets.

He traveled 80 miles on a dog sled on his way to the gold fields. He slept on the ice at nights. Mr. Hupp stated things were dull in Alaska for the most part. The Alaska-Juneau, famous mining property on the edge of the ocean and owned by the Bradley interests, has been closed down throwing 900 men out of employment.

The Chamber of Commerce unanimously endorsed the card party to be given on Friday evening, June 21, for the benefit of the swim pool.

The Chamber also resolved unanimously to participate in the Fourth of July celebration in Grass Valley and will enter a float.

Carter and A. Angilotti be carried out. No report has yet been received upon the project submitted by the Chamber of Commerce to the SERA.

A committee consisting of Messrs. R. J. Bennetts, E. M. Rector, P. G. Scadden and James Penrose had conferred with Supervisor C. S. Arbogast concerning improvement of the road from Nevada City to the Lava Cap and Banner mine. Satisfactory arrangements were made and work on the road will start at the earliest possible date.

CATTLE HERD DAMAGES TOWN'S WATER SUPPLY

CAMPTONVILLE, June 13.—A band of over 500 cattle passed through Monday causing considerable trouble in this section. They blockaded the highway from Freemans Crossing to the Log Cabin at which point Constable John Jaynes ordered them to leave the highway and take the old county road. There is a good cattle road from Freeman's Crossing, which road they should have taken. At the Log Cabin they trampled down fences, destroyed flowers, and a vegetable garden, broke into a fence in which was kept a pet deer by C. L. Wilson, permitting the deer to escape.

Above town they waded into the settler of the Camptonville water works, contaminating the drinking water of the town, causing mud to come into the mains, and stopped the source of water for some little time.

Scientific Parole System Needed

(Contributed)

Extension of the parole system prisoner segregation and shortening of sentences along strict, coldly deliberate scientific lines, could result in an estimated reduction of California's future prison population from 9,000 to 6,000, with an estimated net saving of $600,000 annually, according to calculations of the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of Califonia, requested by a number of members of the 1935 legislature.

The Bureau also finds that the rising curve of felony cases is leveling off and has now reached the point where it is safe to estimate that not more than 10,000 persons will be convicted of felony each year for the next few years. Under present practice, 3,000 of these will be sent to prison, the rest going on probation. Three thousand committments a year, with an average sentence of three years, as at present, will require facilities for keeping 9,000 prisoners in confinement annually. The two state prisons are now housing 8,500 or nearly twice their normal capacity.

With more adequate parole provisions, determined solely on a scientific basis, it might be possible to reduce the average length of sentence to two years and extend the average time on parole to three years. This would decrease the prison population from 9,000 to 0,000. It is roughly estimated that such a parole system, necessitating the employment of a minimum of 150 officers as against the present fifteen, will cost the state a total of $150,000 a year, but that there would be a gross saving of $75,000 in prison costs, or a net saving of $600,000 when the parole bill is figured in.

"The fact that many more men can be placed on parole with reasonable safety than are now placed, is recognized by all criminologists," the Bureau report states. "With the knowledge that is now developing through scientific studies, the matter of selecting the best prospects for parole is becoming less difficult."

New York State, with a penal population of 11,000, has twelve different types of prison, and a careful examination of the medical, psychiatric, psychological and social conditions of each prisoner is made in order that he may be properly segregated and treated. California has had no opportunity to work out such a system, or even an adequate parole system, it was pointed out.

CAMPTONVILLE

By ACTON M. CLEVELAND

CAMPTONVILLE, June 12.—The students of the Camptonville branch of the Marysville Union high school, with the teacher journeyed on their annual pilgrimage to the Cross on Pendolas Hill Monday, held their annual ceremony and finished up with a picnic.

Each year when this pilgrimage is made, new students, carve their names on a lead plate at the large white cross, and pledge themselves that they will be of service to the world. Alumni and others participate in this affair, and it proves a very inspiring and delightful time.

Justice of the Peace Acton M. Cleveland received word Monday from the authorities at West Virginia of Chester Howard West, a former resident, having been recently killed in that state. In 1932 West mysteriously disappeared from here, deserting a wife and son seven years old. At the time it was thought he had committed suicide or been killed in an automobile accident, and considerable search through various channels were made without results. Information received did not state how he met his death. He was a world war veteran of about fifty years of age and wworked in this section for a couple of years.

Homecoming Week for San Juan Ridge Is Plan

The San Juan Ridge Improvement League held an enthusiastic meeting June fifth with a large number of members attending. Frank Miller, president, presided. Many different affairs were discussed and planned.

It was decided with much enthusiasm to hold a home coming week in about six or seven weeks, the exact date to be decided upon at the next meeting. Mr. Trulsbenk, chairman and Mr. Harry Brown were appointed as a committee to confer with a promoter to help work out ways to make this home coming week the best and biggest ever held on the Ridge. It will be a full week's carnival with every kind of attraction to be sponsored by the local people. There will be games, dances, races, concessions, and programs, and all sorts of good eats so you won't need to tote your lunch, the various local organizations will have concessions serving home cooked meals and served by local people.

A large open air dance platform will be built especially for the occasion and excellent music provided.

Begin to talk about it now and write chain letters broadcasting the news to all the old-timers.

The Cherokee school situation was discussed pro and con at the meeting. Since the condemnation of the school by the state department many suggestions have been offered. Some wish a new building at Cherokee for the Cherokee and North Columbia district, some desire it at North Columbia. The state board of education recommended that it be placed at North Columbia but many feel that that is not the best location, due to the difficulties and cost of transportation. Mr. W. E. Moulton and Mrs. Nellie Uhrig were appointed to confer with the county board of education to seek information and advice as to ways and means and plans.

The League also discussed the Cherry Carnival to be given under the auspices of the base ball team on June 15 and 16. They are planning to entertain a large crowd with a baseball game, a dance and a feast of cherries. The league voted to cooperate and aid the baseball team in every way they could to the success of the Cherry Carnival.

Mrs. Nellie Uhrig, chairman of the welfare committee gave a report. For immediate attention for league help are two families, regular residents of the district. One woman, who very recently became a mother, needs care. This woman is receiving county aid but needs medical attention.

Another woman, an expectant mother needs immediate medical attention. Her husband is employed by the SERA but his earnings are insufficient to provide all the needs in the present emergency.

The league voted to contribute funds to aid this emergency case.

BRIDGE ON MIDDLE YUBA AT McKILLIKAN GRADE

A steel bridge across the middle Yuba river at the foot of the McKillikan Grade, which is the main road from Nevada City to the Plumbago mine, will be constructed by the Tahoe National Forest service. A crew of eight men left Tuesday to begin the preliminary work. They will set up camp near the work.

The span will be about 90 feet long and rest on concrete abutments well above the bed of the river. The McKillikan grade has been rarely used since the old bridge was washed away by high water some years ago.

The new bridge will eliminate the old grade which has always been known as one of the steepest and most difficult in the country, and make the descent to the river by a grade not more than ten per cent at any point.

The work also contemplates a road on the north side of the Middle Yuba River to Alleghany. This will follow the present road to the Plumbago Mine with the elimination of some steep pitches and thence to Chipps Flat. It will connect with the road to Eldorado Mine and come into Alleghany from the east.

It will afford that little mining town an outlet to Chipps Flat, Minnesota and other mining sections.

MANSLAUGHTER HEARING TODAY

In lieu of $2,000 bail, Richard H. Williams, was returned to jail Tuesday following the coroner's inquest over the remains of Russell M. Miller, killed when Williams' car struck him early Monday morning on the Colfax road. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Morehouse of Grass Valley his bail was set at the above amount. He will appear this morning for preliminary hearing on a charge of manslaughter.

Coroner L. R. Jefford conducted the inquest, District Attorney Vernon Stoll directed the examination of witnesses, and Court Reporter Miles Coughlin made a record o the proceedings. The verdict of the jury was: "Russell Monroe Miller, 20, came to his death on June 10, 1935, at 12:15 a. m. Death was caused by a badly fractured skull and body injuries caused by being struck by an automobile driven by Richard Williams, Jr."

Several witnesses testified that Williams and his father had been drinking and that they saw a wine jug partly filled in the Williams car.

MORNING STAR

Paul Thomas, Steve Rider, and Charles Kakac, partners, all of Los Angeles are reopening the Morning Star mine property near the Salmon mine north of Nevada City. The men have cleaned out a 50 foot shaft and about completed retimbering. Assays are being made on ore as work progresses. Plans are to sink to the 100 foot level and start drifting to take our milling ore. There are 45 acres in the Morning Star property.

DEER CREEK UNION MINE

The 350 foot drain tunnel at the Deer Creek Union mine southeast of Nevada City has been cleaned out. The crew has also cleared the debris in the 274 foot, three compartment shaft, to the 65 foot level, going at the rate of four feet per day. An electric pump is to be installed to control the heavy flow of water in the mine. Sacramento capital is reopening the property having taken an option from Captain George Nihell. John Rust is mine foreman.

TOURISTS MUST OBSERVE FOREST CAMPING RULES

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—U. S. Regional Foresters show states that a great deal of harm has been carelessly done by failure of vacationists to use prepared parking spurs, national forest camps grounds, which has led to the destruction of undergrowth and seriously affected the health of trees by packing the soil around their roots. Continued abuse of this nature in some places killed vegetation and changed attractive spots to uninviting and dusty areas and may cause abandonment of some of the finest mountain camp grounds.

In spite of an increase of 55 percent in the number of campers in the national forests of the state in the last ten years, the Forest Service has consistently hesitated to impose any unavoidable supervision or regulation on campers. It has preferred to encourage freedom of action in the hope that recreationists would voluntarily cooperate in the care of their vacation grounds. It has now become necessary, according to Show, to insist on the use of prepared parking places and strict observance of signs on the one-way roads in national forest camps.

Regulation of recreational use of California national forests consistent with the conservation of the other resources of timber, water, forage and wild life is more difficult than in other regions, because of the intensive use made of the mountain areas. Out of a total of 35 million persons who visited or travelled through all the national forests of the country last year, 17 millions, or half, were in the California region.

ALLISON RANCH RESUMES WORK

George Bobst, contractor, is engaged in erecting a 20-ton Huntington mill on the Allison Ranch property. The plant will be equipped with amalgamating plates and concentrating table. Thousands of tons of the old dump are to be reworked. Ore sorters are now busy. Eight or ten more are now employed.

RAGON MINE

Superintendent Orlando McCraney has a crew of five men employed in preparation for unwatering the Ragon mine west of Nevada City. Power will be cut in by the end of the week when unwatering will start on the 225 foot shaft. It will be completed in two weeks after which they will sink a sump and then clean out the drifts and proceed to drift north.

The Ragon property is on the Merrifield vein and on the same vein as the Champion mine. There are three veins in the Champion property, the Merrifield, Wyoming and Ural, the first one however, has produced half the output of the Champion property. There are 150 acres in the Ragon property.

TWO THROATS CUT IN TRUCKEE "JUNGLES"

Two men with badly slashed throats are at the county jail as patients, not prisoners, because there is no room for them at the county hospital.

These men, James Murphy, 60 of Lone Pine, California, and John Wesby, 40 of San Francisco, tell a strange tale.

They were brought to the county hospital Tuesday night by deputy constable Titus of Truckee. Wesby with a cut from under the ear to the front of his neck, Murphy's cut was almost identical, both cuts were very deep, almost to the juglar vein.

According to their story they went to the Truckee "jungles" Tuesday afternoon, cooked a stew, ate it and went to sleep. And that's all they know when they awakened with cut throats and streaming with blood.

They somehow managed to get to town and were given first aid in Truckee and then were brought to the Nevada County hospital where Dr. A. H. Tickell and Superintendent R. W. Rodda dressed their wounds. They were then taken to the upstairs ward in the county jail.

Their wounds are not dangerous unless infection sets in and it is probable that they will be able to be about in a few days.

The story told by them gives no leads to the authorities. They assert that no third party accompanied them to the camp and that they do not remember who was in the camp.

Wesby is an ex-service man and according to his discharge papers enlisted in May 1918, was in the Meusse-Argonne front in November and was there when the armistice was signed on November 11.

The two men each say that they have been travelling all over California during the past two years, but it was not learned whether or not they were together.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen who investigated the affair found no clues or leads. Further investigations will be made. The men may know more than they are telling. According to Wesby they were "somewhat steamed up."

Deputy Sheriff Dolly is assiduously working on the case.

GREEN MOUNTAIN PROPERTY

Kistle Brothers have cleaned and retimbered about 160 feet of the 100 foot tunnel on the Green Mountain property which adjoins and is northeast of the Murchie mine. They expect to complete the work in about another 30 days. At the end of the 400 foot tunnel there is a four foot ledge of ore which assays about $11 per ton. This property was worked in 1865 when it yielded good ore.

Charles Kistle states he owns one of the original 5-stamp Palmer-Know mills which will treat about ten tons of ore per day. These mills are among the oldest to be used, this one having been in operation in this territory in the 50's, and is still in good condition.

LEGISLATIVE LETTER

by Graham Berry

(By WNU Service)

Three serious battles, which developed suddenly during a struggle to wind up legislative business and adjourn last week-end, not only prolonged the record-length session by a week, but also opened wider the gaps of noncooperation between the Senate and the Assembly and both houses and Governor Merriam.

Recent legislative activity resembles a wild animal, which, caught in a net, struggles more and more violently, entangling himself all the more.

Of course the fight has been over sections of the budget, for the most part. The important battle sector has been along the income tax front. Just when the machinery of government had begun to roll smoothly, both houses having jointly approved of new taxes which would raise $80,000,000 in new revenue, the Assembly refused to budge from its demands for an income tax with rates higher than those of any state in the Nation. Previously, the lower house had passed the Ford Chatters income bill, calling for rates equal to one-third Federal income tax rates. The Senate had passed an income bill with rates equal to one-fourth Federal rates. This measure was passed to the Assembly for approval. The approval was not forthcoming, only 5 assemblymen voting for the measure, 52 against it.

The Assembly not only voted the measure down, but immediately started a drive to force the higher rate through the upper house. Then the Senate, by a 24 to 8 vote, refused to accept it.

As a result of the deadlock, the whole matter was thrown into a joint committee of senators and assemblymen in order to attempt a compromise. The governor recommended the high rate in his original budget, although it was known that he would favor any income tax with rates between 25 and 33 per cent of Federal rates.

Merriam added considerably to the confusion by his refusing to sign the budget bill until the Legislature passed the revenue-raising program. His veto of the Nielsen bill was also a blow to the Legislature. Accusations of playing into the hands of big business and of delaying adjournment were hurled at him for his action.

The Nielsen measure is part of the public utility program favored by the administration at Washington. It provides for the issuance of revenue bonds by state, counties or cities for construction of public utilities. Only a majority of the voters in the political subdivisions would need to pass on the bonds in order to issue them.

According to the veto message, "The question of public ownership is not involved in the bill. I have and do now favor public ownership. Neither public nor private ownership should be permitted to violate the fundamental principles of sound economics and well-established constitutional limitations."

The governor objected particularly to the provision allowing the bonds to be issued merely on a majority of two-thirds of the voters. He also disliked the lask of limitation "of the amounts which may be expended for underwriting or promotional expenses."

Backers of the measure will seek to push it through the houses over the veto. When first passed, it won enough votes to give it the necessary two-thirds to over-ride the veto.

Almost Balanced

Meanwhile, Senator Walter H. Duval chairman of the Joint Tax Committee which was formed to accelerate budget progress, reported to the senators that on the basis of expense requirements for the next two years of $372,700,000, all but $14,000,000 was in sight by last week-end.

Because the budget had come so close to being balanced by that time, the Legislature had hopes of closing shop a week ago. The before-mentioned tiffs, however, and one more, tripped them up.

This was the lack of legislative enthusiasm for the auto tax, in which the county and city auto property tax would be transferred to the state. There was enough enthusiasm to pass the measure, but not by a sufficient majority to push this particular type of finance measure through.

As for the budget as a whole, Senator Duval's statement showed estimated revenues from existing sources for special funds to be $119,600,000 and for the general fund $132,600,000, or a total of $252,200,000. From added sources, $115,000,000 is expected from the following sources:

1—Estimate of insurance gross premium tax, $4,000,000.

2—Increased liquor licenses to be assessed by State Board of Equalization under the existing law, $2,000,000.

3—Additional sales tax revenue, $35,000,000. State Controller Ray L. Riley claims that this is an over-estimate and that by raising the tax per cent from 2½ to 3 and cutting out essential foods, the increase will be small in that a large part of the tax returns come from foods.

4—Additional bank and corporation franchise tax, $17,000,000.

5—Personal income tax, $17,500,000.

6—Spiritous liquor tax, $9,000,000.

7—Revision of inheritance tax rates and exemptions, $3,000,000.

8—Revision of truck tax, $2,000,000.

9—Real estate transfer tax, $6,000,000.

Food from Lobbyists

The lobbyists took another beating in the Assembly recently, this time being charged with "gastronomic bribery."

Because there were many assemblymen absent from their desks during an afternoon session, the move was made that the lower house adjourn for the day, since no controversial legislation could be given a fair hearing with so few present.

Even such an apparently innocent act as to move for adjournment brought forth charges of "gastronomic bribery," because house members were alleged to eat dinners with lobbyists at lobbyist expense. The move for adjournment was assertedly to allow lobbyists to feed certain legislators and persuade them to vote for or against particular measures.

A hectic outburst followed, in which Assemblyman Anderson accused,

"This move is being made just to give some of these lobbyists a chance to engage in gastronomic bribery by buying a few dinners."

Assemblyman Hornblower for some reason took the charge as a personal affront and answered, "If his insinuation was intended for me, I say it's a damnable lie. I don't intend to take such a statement from anybody."

Assemblyman Anderson was criticised by Assemblymen McMurray and Brennan before the storm blew over. Assemblyman Geyer came to Anderson's defense with, "I agree with everything he has said."

Thus another pleasant afternoon in the Assembly ended, this particular one closing two hours ahead of schedule. Legislators seem fond of accusing each other of everything.

Speaking of lobbying, 150 angry farmers, many of them in shirtsleeves, engaged in the fancy art on their own account last week. The occasion was to demand mortgage moratorium relief.

First they called on the governor, who said he favored some sort of mortgage relief; then, blocking the Capitol corridors until they had obtained a Senate hearing, sent George Sehlmeyer, master of the State Grange, and Alfred Aram of the Farmers' Union to the upper house rostrum as their representatives.

The moratorium demands were made while the Senate was in the midst of one of numerous controversies over the income tax bill. As soon as the senators voted on certain income tax amendments, they were summoned to the corridor outside, where farmers laid down their wishes in no uncertain terms. They demanded passage of the Jones Moratorium Act, over which the Senate had been dickering.

It will be remembered that the Jones law provides that there be an automatic moratorium on mortgages for the next two years, provided the debtor has paid interest, taxes and insurance on the property. This issue is particularly pertinent in that California's existing mortgage moratorium law has recently been declared illegal in a Los Angeles court.

Civil Service Hit

Federal measures are not the only ones being accused of unconstitutionality. Several charges of illegality have been hurled at important amendments to California's proposed new civil service code.

Nearly one-hundred amendments have been added to the measure since it was presented by its author, Assemblyman Nielsen, who said that he would ask legislators to vote against the bill as a courtesy to him, unless some of the burden of amendments were scrapped.

The measure as amended reminded one old-time legislator of the famous sheep bill of former Senator Ben Rush. Sheep were being attacked by dogs in Solano County, so the senator introduced a bill to protect them. The legislators seemed to think that the good senator knew more about sheep than he did about writing bills, so they shot his bill full of holes, patching the holes with amendments. Those who wrote the amendments must have known more about writing laws than they did about sheep, because when they had finished, the bill protected the dogs from the sheep, and the senator had to kill his measure.

For the same reasons Nielsen will seek to have his bill killed unless some sifting of amendments is done. One series which has been branded unconstitutional, deals with probationaries—those who were blanketed into the service by the amendment voted by the people last November, at which time 5000 non-civil service and political appointee positions were swept under the banner of the service.

One of the amendments affecting probationaries, for instance, attempts to declare the probationary period of non-civil service workers ended last February. In the November amendment submitted to the people, the probationary period was set from two to eight months at the discretion of the state personnel board, after which time such workers were automatically to be protected by the service, provided they could qualify in examinations.

On this last point it is interesting to note that one-third of the probationary employes given exams for permanent status have failed to pass their tests. The information comes from state civil service department sources. In other words, a lot of political appointees are going to lose their jobs before long.

Another set of amendments which put Assemblyman Nielsen on the warpath has to do with the establishment of individual civil service eligible lists for the various sections of the state. Of this idea he says:

"The scheme to set up eligible lists for the various parts of the state would ruin civil service and deprive the state of the right to select the best available workers, regardless of the locality in which they live."

NRA DECISION AFFECTS STATE LEGISLATION

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

Taking inventory of farm legislation enacted by the 1935 State Legislature, California's "baby AAA" bill and the new Agricultural Prorate Act undoubtedly rank as the two most important agricultural measures of the session.

The importance of the California legislation has been tremendously heightened, furthermore, by the recent sweeping decisions of the United States Supreme Court bearing on the NRA and other emergency legislation.

In effect, the Supreme Court held that the Federal government cannot regulate interstate business. The practical result is that full rights and control over all business within the state have been restored to the state.

To California agriculture, the significance of this phase of the court's decision is that the state must assume a far greater share of the enforcement of marketing agreements and licenses. And California's Triple A bill— S. B. 353, by Senators Crittenden, Duval, McCormack and Gordon—sets up the machinery for this enforcement work by the state. Briefly, the "baby AAA" act covers enforcement within the state of marketing agreements and licenses where similar federal agreements and licenses already are in effect.

PRORATE ACT

With the possibility of further breakdown of federal laws, due to the implications of the Supreme Court's decisions, the new California Agricultural Prorate Act—broadening and strengthening the existing Prorate Act—also becomes doubly important.

Marketing control through crop proration, according to present trend, promises to become more and more a state responsibility and California, except for the operation of the State Prorate Act, might be confronted with an almost hopeless task in regulating the marketing of its produce and stabilizing prices.

The new act, in addition to broadening the law to facilitate operation of prorate agreements in each commodity group, also provides for a greatly improved and more democratic administration set-up.

California's state wide farm organizations undoubtedly will present a united front in urging Governor Merriam to sign the new Prorate Act, as failure of the bill to receive his signature would leave the whole proration deal in a very unsatisfactory condition. If the Governor, by any chance, should fail to sign the new Prorate Act, the existing act would still remain in effect and the various farm organizations will emphasize the importance of giving the system a fair trial with the most effective structure available.

CALIFORNIA'S PROGRAM

Although the Supreme Court's rulings did not bear directly on the Agricultural Adjustment Act, it is quite possible, in the opinion of many observers, that they will have a vital indirect bearing on the farm act. But if subsequent developments should require revamping of the AAA by Congress, it is still reasonable to believe that the essential features of the program will be retained.

The attitude of California agriculture, for the most part, is that the program should be continued at least until its workability, or its impracticaality, as the case may be, can be fairly determined. Recognizing imperfections of the program, it must also be admitted that it has brought tremendous benefits in many instances. As a case in point, for instance, the walnut agreement, according to the most conservative estimates, boosted the income of California growers nearly $2,000,000 last year.

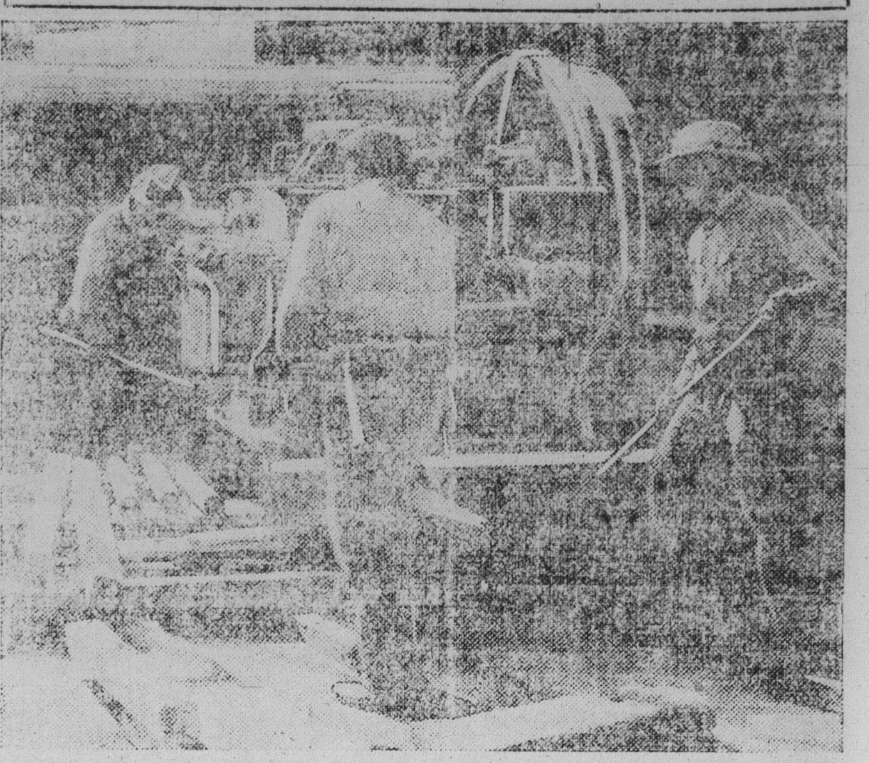
Regardless of the final effect of the Supreme Court's decisions on the national agricultural program, California, due to the legislation just enacted, promises to be in a position to carry on the marketing agreements, licensing and proration programs until they have been thoroughly tested.

MOULTON AND CLERKIN GRAVEL

After a good season's run the Moulton and Clerkin gravel properties operated by W. E. Moulton and W. P. Clerkin, respectively, of French Corral, have closed down. Both properties through hydraulic and sluicing methods handled many yards of gravel during this spring season.

It is reported that the Norambagua property at Forest Springs, south of Grass Valley, will be reopened under the management of A. R. Archibald.

Moving Exhibit Machinery



As soon as the concrete floor in the Ford Exposition Building at the California Pacific International Exposition, San Diego, became fixed, the machinery for the great exhibit began to pour in from the waiting cars. Here is seen the first, a National hot header, used in "upsetting" hot steel bars approximately three-quarters of an inch in diameter. These bars are formed into drag links on the finished Ford automobile.

From Aunt Sarah

Do you remember the old-fashioned strawberry shortcake that mother used to make—or perhaps it was grandmother. Time flies so fast that Aunt Sarah wonders if even mother has ever tasted that good old strawberry shortcake. There never was a man or boy who did'nt like the old-fashioned kind better than the new-fangled sweet cake.

Old-Fashioned Strawberry Short Cake

Two cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 level teaspoons baking powder; ¼ cup shortening. Water to mix. About two boxes strawberries. Sift the dry ingredients.

With the finger tips mix the shortening into the flour. Mix with water (about 3-4 to 1 cup full) to the consistency of soft biscuit dough. Divide into two pieces. Pat out to fit a cake pan. Place one piece in pan and dot it with butter then put the other piece on top of it and bake for about fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

When done put half of the crushed strawberries between the layers and the other half over the top. Serve hot with cream. (Do not whip the cream.)

VILLAGE TALE NEVADA THEATRE DRAMA TONIGHT

"Village Tale" is a thrilling drama of lovers whose lives were clouded by the horrid gossips of a small village. Randolph Scott and Kay Johnson make this picture one, that theatre goers should not miss. This is Nevada Theatre's attraction tonight.

"All the King's Horses" which comes to the Nevada Theatre Saturday is a five star picture. It features five new song hits—"A Little White Gardenia," "When My Prince Charming Comes Along," "Dancing the Viennesse," "Be Careful, Young Lady," and "A King Can Do No Wrong." This lavish production also features five first rate stars—Carl Brisson, Mary Ellis, Edward Everett Horton, Katherine DeMille and Eugene Pallette. "All the King's Horses," one of the greatest musical romances of all time is a Paramount production, directed by Frank Tuttle. This picture is a sumptuously mounted musical production—but the story is good enough to stand on its own two feet as a splendid comedy.

It is augmented with five new hit tunes by Sam Coslow, author of "Cockstails for Two," with the same grand romantic nonsense that made Chevalier such a star in his early pictures. "The Love Parade" and "The Smiling Lieutenant," and with two stars who, after this picture, will be among the favorites.

Carl Brisson, introduced "Cocktails for Two" in "Murder at the Vanities," and Mary Ellis was the lovely singing star of that all time hit, "Rose Marie."

Sunday night the Nevada Theatre will feature Jessie Matthews in "Evergreen." Jessie Matthews is the answer to the public's demand for new personalities. She's half a dozen rolled into one. She can sing. She can dance. She's a comedienne. She can charm. "Evergreen" will establish her as one of the biggest box-office attractions in years. The girl who has everything in the musical romance that has everything! That's Jessie Matthews in "Evergreen."

COLORADO MINING

A. L. Falconer and partner, Mr. Turner, have taken an option on the Colorado mining claim in the Banner Mountain district, owned by Kistle Brothers of Nevada City. Former parties who gave up on account of lack of funds, had spent considerable money in sinking and drifting. A ledge of good width has been drifted on for 200 feet and assays run close to $60 per ton. The new leasers trucked a ton and a half of the ore from the ledge.

Considerable development was done on the property last year, but the wet winter put a stop to the work. Good gravel had been opened up and several fine nuggets were taken out early in their operations last season.

STATE CHAMBER MEETS JUNE 14 IN SACRAMENTO

SACRAMENTO, June 8.—The new laws passed by the present legislature affecting highways, taxation, and other business conditions in California, will be given consideration by agricultural and business leaders of the nineteen northern counties when the Sacramento Valley Council of the State Chamber of Commerce meets in Hotel Senator, Sacramento, Friday, June 14, at 10 a. m.

The Highway Committee will especially consider the necessary changes in the 1935-37 State highway budget, as well as making recommendations for the expenditure of federal funds on feeder highways in the district.

The Publicity and Travel Stimulation Committees will formulate definite plans for publicizing the historical, scenic, and recreational areas with an idea of attracting more people to spend their vacations in the Sacramento Valley district.

All of the regular committees—Highways, Agriculture, Taxation, Conservation, Winter Sports, Publicity, Travel Stimulation, and Fish and Game, will meet separately from 10 a. m. until noon, at which time all will join together for the Council luncheon at 12:15. The general public is invited to attend any or all of these meetings.

The various committee chairmen will present reports at the luncheon meeting, at which Dudley V. Saeltzer of Redding, Regional Director of the State Chamber, will preside.

C. E. BOSWORTH BUYS GOLD FLAT PROPERTY

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bosworth have purchased a three acre tract of land on Gold Flat from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyers. It is just south of Nevada City and has two cottages and a nice home on it. The Bosworths will move to their new home over the coming week end. Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth came to Nevada City about two years ago from Livermore and opened a furniture store in this city and have made many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers, who have resided on Gold Flat about three years, are moving to the Spanish mine near Washington Saturday where Mr. Meyers will be employed for several months.

PAHATSI OPENS FOR CUBS IN ONLY 3 WEEKS

Plans for a new program and organization of Scout camp were made at the last meeting in Grass Valley of Assistant Camp Directors Jeff Mooers and Sam Partridge with Harris Ricksecker. Among other things a change will be made in patrol and overnight camps. The groups will be divided and more and different hike objectives will be chosen.

Picnics instead of hikes, swimming and boating under strict supervision, Cub handicraft, nature leagues galore and evening campfires, not to mention plenty of well cooked food will fill up the interesting days program.

Applications for Junior Staff leadership at camp indicates a very good interest in this years camp. Registrations are coming in satisfactorily for both the Cub and Scout camp. In some cases whole patrols will go to camp as a unit.

Only two weeks remain before Cub camp opens June 30th. The advance guard of staff members and older Scouts will leave for camp on Wednesday, June 26th to have everything in readiness when the campers arrive.

A majority of last years Cub campers have either registered or signified their intention of attending camp in response to the Cub camp bulletin already released by local Cubmasters, many of whom are planning to assist with camp staff. Each Cub as he registers will receive a form for health examination which is necessary before entering camp. The latter is a protection both for camp and the Cub as well as other Cubs in camp.

HARRIS DRUG STORE THOROUGHLY MODERNIZED

Remodeling of the interior of the Harris Drug store of Nevada City is almost completed, greatly increasing space in the front and making it up-to-date and modern. Just back of the office, aisles with shelves on both sides have been arranged for medicines and supplies. A balcony with three aisles is arranged above this, after which comes a small room for examinations. A general store room is in the rear.

Mrs. Zelma Lloyd, manager of the Downieville telephone exchange, passed through Nevada City Thursday enroute to San Francisco on a business trip.

IDAHO MARYLAND REPORTS PROFIT NET, $523,000

The report of the Idaho Maryland Consolidated Mines, Inc., and subsidiary, for the year ended December 31, 1934, shows consolidated net profit of $523,090, after all expenses, minority interest and provision for federal taxes, but before making any provision for depletion, depreciation or amortization of stock discount. Net profit is equal to 30 cents a share on 1,726,932 shares of $1 par outstanding and compares with a profit of $336,041, or 20 cents a share on the 1,701,592 shares outstanding in 1933.

During 1934 the company produced 80,237 tons of ore from which it recovered gold with a value of $1,472,902, against 68,233 tons in 1933 from which was recovered $866,246.

The total cost of recovery last year, including development work, overhead, compensation, insurance, taxes, metallurgical experiments and cost of alteration and repairs to the plant and equipment, was $884,944, or $11.03 a ton. This compares with $586,396, or $8.59 a ton in 1933.

The increase in operating costs last year was due principally to an increase in wages of 50 cents per man per day in June, 1934. Errol MacBoyle of Grass Valley, managing director, says the number of men employed now is 473, which is about the number employed a year ago.

Last year $358,935 was spent on development work; $231,343 on additions to plant and equipment; $258,221 or 15 cents a share was distributed in dividends; and a substantial amount was spent for acquisition of additional stock of the subsidiary company. At the end of last year all but one-half of one percent of the subsidiary had been acquired, and it is planned to liquidate the subsidiary as soon as practicable.

As a result of the large cash expenditures last year, the company ended 1934 in an unsatisfactory financial position. However, E. L. Oliver of San Francisco, president says: "Our first major program of expansion is about complete, and it is indicated that current operations henceforth will be sufficient to warrant dividend distribution of twenty cents a share this year and build up a substantial cash surplus."

YOU BET MINING COMPANY

Latest reports are that water is short at the You Bet Mining company ground near You Bet, although hydraulicking is being done on both the Browns Hill and You Bet sides of the property. W. J. Scott, mining engineer, is in charge with nine men employed.

This company has spent many thousands of dollars in equipment and development at this property. They have constructed flumes and ditches bringing water to their operations, and in recent months two large powder drifts were run in order to break down many tons of the gravel, from the high banks.
